ANOTHER MURDER TAKES PLACE; DONORA MAN IS SHOT TO DEATH

Trouble Over Wife of Ed Lockhart Said to be at Bottom of Affair

COATES MADE EASY VICTIM

Is Fired Upon Twice—"Well I've Got My Man," Alleged Murdered is Said To Have Exclaimed—Gives Himself Up to the Police.

George Coates, colored, aged 22, of Uniontown was shot and killed by Ed. Lockhart, also colored of Webster near the entrance of the Greek poolroom in McKean avenue at Donora Saturday afternoon. Coates was wounded in three places and died almost instantly. Lockhart left the poolroom and walked toward the police station to give himself up. He met an officer to whom he told his story and who took him in charge. He was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Walter Coatesworth and was held for court on a charge of murder. He was taken to the county jail at Washington Monday morning. Corner James T. Heffran has been notified and will conduct an investigation.

Opinion is divided as to the motive for the crime but the general belief is that it followed a quarrel over Lockhart's wife. Coates came to Donora Saturday afternoon in search of work. Later in the afternoon Lockhart came to Donora from his home in Webster. When he heard that Coates was in town, he began the hunt for him and eventually found him at the Greek poolroom. The two stepped out into the alley where it is said Lockhart called Coates to account for slandering his wife. Coates is said to have made a foolish remark and as he started back into the poolroom Lockhart fired twice. He then followed his victim into the room and fired a third time all of the shots taking effect.

Lockhart is said to have remarked "Well, I've got my man. Now I'll give myself up." He kept his promise for he left immediately for the police station. He is a young man, about 22 years of age.

ACTRESS SAYS SHE FELL FROM WINDOW

Did Not Intend to Commit Suicide, Says Miss Marsh At Monongahela—Trusted to Athletic Ability To Save Her

Asserting that she had no idea of ending her life but just wanted to get out of the hotel without being seen, Miss Eva Marsh the young actress, who fell 40 feet from the window of the Commercial hotel at Monongahela Friday night, supposed to have been brooding over her failure to make good on the "boards," is rapidly recovering at the Memorial hospital and will be able to leave that institution in a few days.

Miss Marsh has the name of being a real athlete. She says the manager of the stock company of which she is a member, Frank Boyce, told her that she was not physically able to take part in the play. She decided to leave by the window route, trusting to her athletic ability to crawl down the wall during the absence of a watcher in her room. Her foot slipped and she fell to the ground. Miss Marsh seems much improved and is apparently not seriously injured.

"Go-to-Church" Observance To be Enthusiastically Carried Out

TABULATION TAKEN SUNDAY

Report of Actual Number Present at Various Churches to be Made Later—Programs Being Prepared For Coming Sunday.

Every church in Charleroi is actively preparing for the observance next Sunday of "go-to-Church Sunday," and are sending out advertising matter and general invitations. In line with the movement a count was taken in practically every church Sunday of those present at Sunday school and the church services. Next Sunday the attendance will be boosted to the top notch.

Tabulation has not been made yet of the total number who were present at church services Sunday, but the figures run high. Yet the attendance was not unusual. Probably by the middle of the week some announcement will be made.

Services next Sunday will not be out of the ordinary, generally speaking. The regular program will be carried out, excepting perhaps the musical part. Then the sermons will be particularly adapted to the day.

In Pittsburg "Go-to-Church Sunday" will be observed on the same day. Like in Charleroi the movement is being worked up eagerly and enthusiastically. In McKeesport a similar observance is being arranged and other towns and cities are considering.

Thanksgiving topics were very generally treated in the pulpits Sunday though the general Thanksgiving service will be held by a union of the churches on Thanksgiving evening at the First Christian church. At this time the speakers will be Rev. P. Bastian, Rev. A. J. Whipher and Rev. M. Harrington.

MONESSEN BEATS CHARLEROI HIGH

Title Struggle on Charleroi Field Ends After Two Touchdowns by Visitors

MISFORTUNES ARE THE CAUSE

Charleroi high school lost its all important title contest on Saturday afternoon to the Monessen high school by the score of 12 to 0 through a series of misfortunes. Some blamed the referee for the defeat, but this was distinctly unjust. Fate and the wrong sort of plays at the wrong time, with at least one questionable play, were responsible.

The game had its disagreeable features and the worst of all was the breaking of Frazier's leg. This plunging Monessen right half back was injured in a hard tackle in the last quarter, and they had to carry him off the field. Just how the break, which was above the knee occurred is a question. Carson, a star Charleroi tackle and end was laid out early in the game, and it took him the rest of the afternoon to recover, even with the attention of two doctors.

The best team did not win the game. This was proven in the third quarter when Charleroi literally rushed Monessen off its feet in a series of successive dashes and plunges. It was the only time that the locals showed their real form. Then when the team aproached the goal line, the old demon hard luck appeared. Charleroi lost the ball and presently down the field strung the Monessenites for their second touchdown.

The game started off in pretty good shape with Capt. Lowstuter kicking to Monessen. Charleroi held Monessen for the ball and then started on a march for the goal line. Charleroi finally kicked and Monessen's good luck appeared. Williams took the ball for a good long run. Monessen was penalized for somebody slugging somebody else. Enter, trouble. On

OBJECTS OF CHARITY

Space and copies of his paper go to make up the newspaper man's entire stock in trade. These two are all that he has to offer for sale to the public and no one has yet given any sort of satisfactory reasons why he should ever be asked by anyone to donate them, says the Fourth Estate.

One thing newspaper people will never be able to understand is why any person will walk into a newspaper office and make himself or herself an object of charity and insist upon what they would disdain to ask for in any other shop or place of business in the town. The principle is the same in the newspaper office as in the dry goods store, the grocery, the drug store and what a great many people need is to recognize it as the same and get off the newspaper list.

Advertising space in the newspaper is for sale, not to give away. It has a certain value in itself that makes it worth money. Copies of the newspaper are for sale——not to give away. If they are worth having they are worth the exceeding small price asked for them.

The public, or at least a large portion of it, has some very erroneous ideas about these matters and it is but just to the newspaper folk that their ideas be corrected in accordance with the same business principles that prevail in all other business establishments.

In a vast majority of cases this generous charity on the part of the newspapers is blissfully taken for granted and the paper's liberality is unabused. That which is purely a favor is accepted as a matter of course and what should be requests are couched as demands.

When the courtesy has been performed there is rarely appreciation and more often dissatisfaction—generally silence.

The result in many towns and cities is that a ban has been put upon all free publicity, no matter what its object—even upon church notices. In these cities such favors as the press bestows are properly appreciated and valued.

EFFICIENCY IN PAYING BILLS

Highland Park, a suburb of Chicago, has developed something new in the way of an efficiency plan. It is a plan to lighten the housekeeper's work by simplifying her payment of bills.

Highland Park women, of course don't pay cash for their groceries, meat, ice, etc. They got over that crude system long ago, remarks the Tammanyite Spirit. Nearly all of them pay their tradesmen by the month. And nearly all of them pay by check.

That is the [illegible] system. But it occurred to some of the more progressive women that they might be still more business like in their methods. Why should women be compelled, along about the first of the month, with writing and mailing checks to a dozen different tradesmen, particularly when most of those tradesmen carried accounts at the same bank?

So the women's husbands figured out the "multiple check system," and formed an association to make it workable. There are about 150 tradesmen in the association. Once a month the housekeeper makes out a single check covering all her bills, and mails it to the bank, enclosing the bills and an itemized statement of what she wants to pay on each of them, if she isn't paying in full. The [illegible] does the rest, distributing [illegible] among all the creditors.

The system is [illegible] experimental stage, but there's no objection [illegible] it should [illegible] a good [illegible] not everybody [illegible]

PICKED UP IN PASSING

He was ticketed to undergo a slight operation at the city hospital. Simple though the operation was, the man didn't feel quite easy about himself. A few minutes before the anesthetic was to be applied he sent for his physician, who was to handle the instruments.

"Please, doctor," he said, "be careful about me."

"Oh, don't worry," the doctor said, with fine assurance. "You'll be all right."

"But I wish you to be careful, doctor," the patient insisted.

"You seem quite anxious about yourself," the doctor remarked, with a smile.

"I am," the patient replied nervously. "I have $900 life insurance and I don't like my wife.—Indianapolis News.

"After an absence of nearly twenty years," stated Merton Sanford, "I visited the little town where I was born and grew to early manhood. On the way thither I was filled with pleasurable anticipations of the reception that woud greet me, as a man of the world and a successful citizen of this great metropolis come back to tread once more the familiar paths his boyhood had known.

"Well—er—h'm!—to cut it short, many of the boys of other days had gone to one bourne or another and most of those who remained were reluctant about recognizing me for fear I might want to borrow something. About the only person who exhibited any real interesst in me was old Lafe Moss who had been in his second childhood when I was a boy. He chirked up at once when he saw me. 'Why, hello here! said he. 'You been away some'rs?'"—Kansas City Star.

CAUSE OF HAY FEVER

Pollen of Ragweed Is Blamed by Physicians.

Irritating Principle of Plant Has Long Been Known—Stigma That Rested on the Goldenrod Has Been Removed.

The chief cause of fall hay fever is the pollen of the two varieties of ragweed. The generic name of the two ragweeds is ambrosia. The common or wormweed variety is called "artemisiifolia" on account of its leaves resembling those of the wormwood (artemisia.) It is an annual, with leaves much cut and thin, opposite and alternate, as shown in the illustration. It has spikes of green flowers at the end of the branches. It resembles the common wormwood, which, however, bears small insignificant white flowers

The great ragweed is called "trifidia" on account of its large three-lobed leaves. It is the tallest member of the group, and frequently grows to a height of 12 feet. It is common in moist soil in the lowlands near the gulf coast.

The irritating principle of both ragweeds is formed in the spikelike flower, being yellowish in color and almost as light as smoke. It is so abundant that during the stage of pollination it will stain one's clothes yellow while passing through such a field. It is so extremely light that it is almost impossible to collect any amount of it without its being blown away.

Laboratory investigators have isolated a large number of plants whose pollen will produce the characteristic reaction of hay fever. The goldenrod, for instance, has been accused of being responsible for 50 per cent of all cases of hay fever. The committee on original research of the American Hay Fever Prevention association has demonstrated the fact, however, that the goldenrod belongs to a group of only 15 per cent of cases that do not owe their origin to the ragweed.

An obvious reason for the goldenrod not being responsible for a large number of cases is that its pollen is not wind-blown, but heavy and tenacious, so that the majority of patients are affected only in the event that the nostrils are placed in close proximity to the flower.

The pollen of the ragweed, however is easily detached in clouds and is distributed by the wind over a large territory.

The usual attacks of fall hay fever sufferers are coincident with the pollination of the ragweed, while the goldenrod frequently blooms for weeks after the attacks have subsided

The most active stage of the ragweed is in the month of September and every effort should be made at that time to destroy these noxious weeds.

The object of the American Hay Fever Prevention association is the dissemination of general knowledge of benefit to sufferers from hay fever, the education of the public regarding the weeds that are known to produce this disease, and the use of its influence and cooperation toward the eradication of such weeds

National forest, in not years, has been enormously diminished by preventive methods, such as draining swamps, typhoid fever has been decreased through the care taken in the water supply, and the destruction of infected material, tuberculosis and other diseases have found their advocates for preventive methods.

The American Hay Fever Prevention association has instituted, directly and through its affiliated state associations, a campaign of education regarding the hay fever producing weeds, which it is hoped will in a few years destroy the cause of this wide spread disease.—W. Scheppegrell President American Hay Fever Prevention Association.

FOOTBALL GAME FOLLOWED BY VARIOUS EXCITING FEATURES

Monessen Swains Are Ejected From Charleroi, And Charleroi Swains From Monessen—Near Fights.

The high school football game of Saturday afternoon had several climaxes and near climaxes and one of the former was an affair of Sunday night. Two Monessen young men, who however are not on the Monessen football team came here to make calls on girl friends. They were intercepted as they were alighting from the car and gently but firmly informed that their homes were in Monessen and that probably they would feel safer there. There was no chance for argument and back on the car the two were placed. This followed the expulsion of a party of Charleroi young men from Monessen recently. There were several near fights on the street after the game.

Mysterious Zones of Silence.

A meteorologist of Zurich, Dr. A. Quervan, directs attention to a new theory which he calls a zone of silence. He says that strong noises like explosions or the sound of cannons, while heard in a normal way in their immediate neighborhood, are not heard in a distant zone even when most intense.

It is now known as a historical fact that Frederick the Great on August 17, 1760, won the battle of Liegnitz because the Austrian generals Daun and Lasen asserted that they had not heard the sound of cannons. It was supposed at that time that the statement of the Austrian commanders was an untruth, but it is now believed that a zone of silence existed. Similar phenomena have been observed recently. In 1903, when the Jungfrau railroad was being built in Switzerland, a fearful detonation took place, caused by the explosion of 25,500 kilograms of dynamite The noise was heard at a distance of 30 kilometers, but not at 140 kilometers Strange to say, however, the noise was heard 50 kilometers from the last named zone.

The Bible in Russia.

The holy synod at Petrograd has been busily engaged in the work of producing popular editions of the Bible. These are being widely distributed by the Orthodox church among soldiers on the battle field as well as to the sick and wounded. Various Russian Red Cross aid associations are including Bibles and Testaments in their parcels of "comforts" for troops at the front, and as the available stock of the British and Foreign Bible society has became exhausted, the holy synod is undertaking the work of printing fresh editions. Should this wave of enthusiasm for the propagation of the Holy Scriptures prove more than a passing phase we may look forward to a revival of intelligent religious instruction in Russia.

MONESSEN BEATS

the next play, the referee saw wildly waving arms. The result was Stahlman, Charleroi's quarterback was banished from the game for slugging, and Charleroi penalized half the distance to the goal line. Dolan was sent to take his place. Evidently the referee didn't see him report or there was too much fussing or something on the field—anyhow he penalized Charleroi 15 yards more. This placed the ball on about the one inch line and even Monessen could make a touchdown. McKinley carried the ball over but failed to kick afterward.

It looked like a Charleroi victory in the last quarter. Up to speaking distance of the goal line the locals pushed the ball. Then a play failed ignominously. The play called was for L. Lowstuter to receive the ball several yards back and to pass it to Hepler for the touchdown which looked certain. But the pigskin had been in too many mud puddles, and consequently slipped through Lowstuter's hands. Monessen captured the ball, but first thing won a penalty for 15 yards. They kicked to Capt. Lowstuter. Right here Frazier was removed with his leg broken. Successive efforts of Charleroi to advance the ball failed to work any too well, Monessen took the ball for a short try, then back it passed to Charleroi. Capt. Lowstuter essayed a forward pass. A Monessen player grasped it, and ran several yards until Capt. Lowstuter dove under him. The referee maintained that Lowstuter tried to trip the Monessenite, so gave Monessen 15 yards. Immediately Conti broke through the line for a sensational run for the second touchdown. McKinley failed to kick. A couple more plays and the game was over.

Before the game a short parade to the field occurred, with the high school band leading and stirring the student body with martial airs. The largest crowd of the season and one of the largest of recent years witnessed the struggle.

Charleroi was unfortunate in being without Ritchey, the star tackle. However Carson and Dolan played very acceptably at his place. Hickey and Piersol were stars at end. Hepler played a good tackle and Harrington. Ryland and Rubenstein did well at guards. Brown performed as usual at center. Kellog did well when he went to end. The backfield work was good all the way through the game, with Capt. Lowstuter probably the best ground getter. However both L. Lowstuter and Miksch pulled off good runs. Lineup:

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind. I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R.
